Sit-in at Comcast ends in nine arrests

Diverse crew of Occupiers willing to wear handcuffs ◗ Second time Occupiers have been arrested ◗ Ramsey said they gave police no trouble

RICARD LARMA/METRO

Nine people were arrested inside the Comcast Center yesterday after members of Occupy Philly marched there for — as usual — multiple reasons.

Among the reasons were showing solidarity with Occupy Oakland — whose encampment has been plagued by reports of police brutality — and to protest corporate America's tax loopholes.

"The people at the Comcast Center don't pay city taxes," said Blayney Stukes of North Philadelphia, who happened upon the protest on his way home from the market. "It's a good place to demonstrate."

Officers, including Commissioner Charles Ramsey, brought out nine people who sat in the building's lobby to force their arrests for failing to leave the well known veranda marked by the massive LED television.

A middle-aged woman followed by seven young men and a young woman were led out of the building flanked by police escorts as a phalanx of protesters on the front steps cheered and bicycle police formed impromptu crowd control barriers.

"The conduct of police here has been very, very restrained and very, very good," Ramsey said.

But many protesters disagreed. "I believe they're tired of this s— anyway, and it showed," said John Phillips, citing officers who drew their batons and covered up their badge numbers. "There was no need to have so many of them."

"There's supposed to be free assembly under the Constitution, but when you assemble, they bring out all these police," said protester Ron Whyte. "Then they complain about overtime costs."

ALEX WIGGLESWORTH
awigglesworth@metro.us

Incidents

Some other skirmishes since Occupy Philly arose:

- Oct. 11: Took 19 days to respond to a letter from the Philadelphia Managing Director's Office asking them to address public safety and sanitation hazards at the camp.
- Oct. 22: Staged a 17-hour sit-in in the street outside the Philadelphia Police Headquarters, blocking vehicular traffic until 15 protesters were arrested.
- Yesterday: Marched to the Comcast Center, then, when asked to leave, nine sat on the floor of the lobby and refused to move until they were arrested.

Another woman arrested outside

A 10th woman was arrested outside the Comcast Center before the sit-in. "Police pushed passed her with their bikes and then grabbed her by the arms and threw her in the van," a protester who would only be identified as Richie said. "She wasn't doing anything."

Another observer said that, due to the crush of the crowd, it was difficult to see exactly what happened, but that the woman's screams could be heard down the block.

Four Philadelphia men were arrested last weekend for allegedly robbing a 13-year-old boy at gunpoint for his meatball sandwich, reports say. The men allegedly mugged the boy in Yeadon on Saturday night. The boy called police from his cellphone. They then recovered both the gun and the sandwich.

SEPTA pleads for jobs

MONTGOMERY COUNTY. U.S. Department of Transportation Secretary Ray LaHood will be in Norristown today visiting with SEPTA officials to discuss the American Jobs Act.

LaHood and SEPTA General Manager Joe Casey will travel to the Bridgeport Viaduct on the Norristown High Speed Line, a bridge built in 1911 that is in need of major repair, but has not been upgraded because SEPTA cannot afford the $34 million construction cost.

The bridge is among more than a dozen projects SEPTA showed Rogoff during a previous visit and says it could start work on immediately if a federal Jobs Act were passed. LaHood will talk about how jobs that would be created with the passage of Jobs Act would help transit agencies improve their crumbling infrastructure. METRO/SDL

Nine public schools put on chopping block

- District proposes closing schools, overhauling grades
- Grappling with budget problems and empty seats

SOLOMON D. LEACH
sleach@metro.us

The School District of Philadelphia proposed a plan yesterday to close nine schools over the next four years and change grades at several others to partially deal with declining enrollment.

The district has 70,000 empty seats due mostly to growing charter enrollment and is using just 68 percent of its building capacity, with the goal of getting to 85 percent. The much anticipated — and soon-to-be much debated — proposed facilities master plan would address about 7,300 seats, but leaves much more work to be done.

Officials said the work was long overdue and would help put more resources into schools.

"To not address those (economic realities) would be avoiding what we think is good stewardship," Acting Superintendent Leroy Nunery said of the plan.

The criteria for closure included the condition of the buildings, academic performance, enrollment and population decline, neighborhood impact and nine other factors, officials said. Specific data on the schools slated for closure was not provided yesterday, but officials said it will be made available online in the next few weeks.

Students at closed schools would be offered at least two reassignment options and teachers would be reassigned in accordance with the collective bargaining agreement.

List of schools

Schools slated for closure by the 2012-13 school year are:

- Levering Elementary in Roxborough
- Harrison Elementary in North Philadelphia
- Sheppard Elementary in Fairhill
- Drew Elementary in West Philadelphia
- E.M. Stanton Elementary in Center City
- Fitzsimons High in North Philadelphia

Schools slated for closure beyond the 2012-13 school year are:

- Sheridan West Academy in Frankford
- Philadelphia High School for Business in Center City
- Pepper Middle School in Southwest Philadelphia

RICARD LARMA/METRO

▶ Nunery said residents will have three months to give input.

Time to disown Nails?

▶ Dykstra

Dykstra ditches Bucks County appearance this weekend for a 'celebrity' boxing match in LA He'll fight Canseco in a battle of pathetic former ballplayers

How low can Lenny Dykstra go? How about suddenly backing out of a scheduled appearance at a Bucks County mall this weekend to instead fight fellow baseball lowlife Jose Canseco in a "celebrity" boxing match the same day?

It's safe to assume the boxing match in Los Angeles this Saturday night will pay a bit more than the autograph session previously planned at Oxford Valley Mall in Middletown.

But the timing of the cancellation was intriguing. Yesterday morning, a publicity official for the mall sent out an e-mail saying "Nails" would appear along with other former sports players like Mitch Williams. A couple hours later, reports of his fight with Canseco came out.

"Dykstra was booked by his agent for a celebrity-boxing match against Jose Canseco in Hollywood on Saturday night and is now unable to attend," mall spokeswoman Jennifer Sherlock said in a statement after Dykstra cancelled, adding that "although Lenny Dykstra will not be in attendance, there are still many players who will be signing autographs."

Dykstra, 48, last month pleaded no contest in California to three counts of grand theft auto, which could mean up to four years in jail when he's sentenced in January.

30 Million men suffer performance issues. #1 reason is that they are over 50!

Thailand's "9 Inch" Root Holds Secret to Extended Male Performance!

Oregon man credited with bringing "oddly-shaped root" to U.S. market; improves blood flow, prostate function and ignites stamina!

Rod Tallman, a retired Oregon businessman was searching for his own "sexual fountain of youth" when he literally stumbled over a 5,000 year old Asian root that is proving to be the solution to male performance issues. He now leads a team of researchers in bringing this solution to the U.S.

Ever wonder why some men seem to be serving up a satisfying sex life while you are left hungry for more? When stress levels increase, certain nutrients become imbalanced, causing a premature decline in libido, testosterone levels and reduced circulation; all negatively affecting his ability to maintain physical performance levels. Not only do intimate encounters become less frequent, they become less pleasurable too!

" I was retired and finally had the time to enjoy myself but my body was holding me back. I truly believe that sex should be as satisfying today as it was when you first started having it. Sex is a part of being healthy. It's only natural to want to have more of it and for it to be satisfying!" says Tallman.

Rod is part of a group of "everyday guys" who used their retirement funds to invest in the research of a rare combination of herbs from the far East.

Today they are receiving national acclaim for the all natural formula called 112 Degrees™, specifically designed to target the maturing man's overall energy, interest and physical performance by improving and optimizing total body circulation and prostate function.

Thailand's Gift to Men

112 Degrees™ contains top-quality, all-natural ingredients such as Tribulus Terrestris, L-Tyrosine, Pueraria, and Acai, formulated to improve male sexual health and performance, as well as support overall health and vitality. However, one ingredient in the formula can't help but stand-up in the group.

"My husband started taking 112 Degrees™ because he was experiencing performance irregularities. After taking 112 Degrees™, he has no problems." Christy, AZ

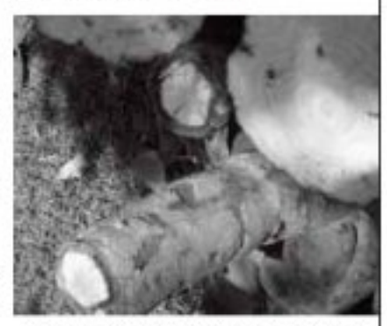
Proof of Performance

Health professionals have noted that the "oddly-shaped root" may produce benefits such as a significant increase in the weight of the testes, higher sperm counts and a greater release of male sex hormones, which explains the plant's reputation for increasing men's sexuality. This translates into an overall better experience.

"For the last four years I have had a significant amount of trouble with frequency of urination. I've seen a significant improvement with 112 Degrees™." Jude, OR

Breakthrough Combination

112 Degrees™ users have also noted changes that include increased morning arousals, more intense release, improved urination, including ease of going and urine flow, and even getting up less during the night to urinate. Users can expect to experience improved blood flow, better prostate function and a dramatic increase in stamina.



According to a 2003 article in the Asian Journal Andrology the preparations of Butea are for male erectile dysfunction. It is affectionately referred to as herbal Viagra.

"Early morning erections have returned. Sustained erections during intercourse. I am satisfied so far." John, NY

Try A Bottle Free

If you're a man 45 years or older, generally healthy, who has noticed a decline in libido, physical ability or urinary function, then you may be suffering from reduced circulation and unhealthy prostate function and you can benefit from a free 30-day supply of 112 Degrees™. This non-prescription strength formula can help with sexual health and overall performance without side effects. LIFE SPAN Labs is sending out the first bottle free as part of a special promotion.

3, 2, 1, contest: Who wants to be a space cowboy?

▶ While space tourism on commercial spaceflights has yet to take place, a number of companies have been set up offering flights in the future.

Button up those space suits, y'all: Metro contest first of its kind to send a lucky reader into the final frontier

It's your flight into space — in a not so distant future. Metro yesterday announced it will become Earth's first newspaper to send one of its readers into space.

Readers will have the chance to enter "The Metro Race for Space" competition launching next March. Hopeful civilian astronauts should submit an inspiring proposal on why they deserve to go to space and answer a "quiz" to test their knowledge of the cosmos.

GET MORE METRO ONLINE: WWW.METRO.US

Metro editions across the world will select their local nominee based on the quality of the submission, plus a voting component involving the number of a potential space traveler's Facebook "likes." Nominees will then face a global jury made up of real-life astronauts before the ultimate astronaut-to-be will be chosen.

For this mission, Metro has teamed up with Space Expedition Curacao, a leading commercial space flight enterprise that boasts the Lynx spacecraft, a first generation rocket-powered spaceplane.

The winning candidate in "The Metro Race for Space" will receive astronaut training ahead of the trip scheduled for 2014. The civilian astronaut will be able to chronicle his or her preparations and space flight itself in a series of reports published in Metro across the globe.

The competition will start next March; a global winner will be announced on April 12 in a global special edition dedicated to the topic of space and the future of space travel.

A history of space tourism:

- 2001: Italian American multimillionaire Dennis Tito became the world's first space tourist, reportedly paying $20 million for his trip. Travelling on a Russian Soyuz mission, he spent nearly eight days on the International Space Station.
- Six other space tourists have since followed Tito to space on Soyuz spacecraft, the most recent being Guy Laliberte in 2009, the founder and CEO of Cirque du Soleil.
- Russia stopped space tourist flights in 2010 but plans to resume them in 2013.
- 2004: SpaceShipOne, an air-launched spaceplane, completed the first manned private spaceflight. The flight made pilot Mike Melvill the world's first commercial astronaut.

Few drinks a week tied to breast cancer

Women who drink just a few glasses of wine or beer a week may have a slightly increased breast cancer risk, researchers said Tuesday.

Their findings are based on more than 100,000 nurses followed for three decades and add weight to earlier studies linking alcohol to breast cancer and other tumors.

"Even at low levels of alcohol consumption, three to six drinks per week, we found a modest increase in risk," said Dr. Wendy Chen of Brigham and Women's Hospital in Boston, whose findings appear in the Journal of the American Medical Association.

"This is an observational study, so we really can't say anything definite about cause and effect."
CHEN

And, she added, "There wasn't a particular period in which it was safe to drink alcohol."

But before you put away the Pinot, there are some important caveats to consider.

First, it wasn't a huge effect — about 15 percent higher risk among drinkers compared with teetotalers. For example, even among women who sipped three to six glasses of wine per week, only 3.3 percent would develop breast cancer over 10 years. That compares to 2.8 percent of abstainers and 3.5 percent of women having up to 13 drinks a week.

Second, there is still no ironclad proof that alcohol itself is to blame, even though the researchers did their best to rule out competing explanations such as smoking or older age. They also adjusted for other influences on breast cancer risk, like whether or not a woman has had children and breastfed. REUTERS

NICOLAS RICHOFFER

▶ Zalmai Rassoul, 69, was appointed Minister of Aviation after the Taliban's ouster, and then Foreign Minister in 2010.

Foreign Minister Zalmai Rassoul of Afghanistan plays a key role in ending the 10-year war He has to convince international alliance to remain involved, even as they want to pull out their troops

ZALMAI RASSOUL 'FULL OF GRATITUDE'

Zalmai Rassoul has the demeanor of a veteran physician — indeed, he's one. Rassoul's calm nature serves him well in what may be the world's hardest foreign minister post. Ten years after the invasion of Afghanistan, he deals with countries eager to get their soldiers back — and he has to convince them that Afghanistan's own forces are improving, while at asking for more help. Rassoul met Metro in Paris.

According to a new survey, 37 percent of Afghan women think Afghanistan will become a worse place when international troops leave. Will it?
It has been 10 years. It's simply time that Afghan security forces take over. By the end of 2014, or even before, we'll be in charge. Of course, that doesn't mean that the international community will abandon Afghanistan. Our security forces till still need training by foreign troops as well as equipment.

If a U.S. soldier asked you why he should risk his life for Afghans, what would you say?
The arrival for international forces was decided by the UN Security Council, not by Afghanistan. But what we have today in Afghanistan, we have thanks to these soldiers' presence. And the international forces have defeated the Taliban in Afghanistan. There are still Taliban outside Afghanistan, but in Afghanistan they've been defeated. And the soldiers have contributed to the security of their own countries. No country that has soldiers in Afghanistan would have been free of the risk of being attacked. We're full of gratitude that the soldiers have risked and sometimes sacrificed their lives for us. But they've also done so to protect their own countries. Afghanistan is no longer a source of terrorism.

"In a few years we hope that Afghanistan will stand on its own feet."
RASSOUL

Maybe Afghans will be better off without foreign soldiers?
This is the first time in the history of Afghanistan that foreign soldiers have been welcomed. But now that 10 years have passed, of course Afghans want to see their own soldiers taking care of their security.

Is the Afghan National Army up to the task? According to a UN report, 90 percent of its soldiers are illiterate; 30 percent are drug addicts.
We have some drug addicts in the ANA, but not 30 percent. Illiteracy remains a problem because two generations of Afghans couldn't go to school. But now we have a very intensive literacy program for new soldiers, and the percentage of literate soldiers is increasing every month.

A tougher challenge is the police force, with police officers helping or joining the Taliban.
Yes, we have many problems with the police force. We started training them very late, and being a police officer is much more difficult than being a soldier because he's dealing with the population. He needs to be literate; he needs to know the law. The Taliban are not recruiting police officers. There has been some infiltration of the police by the Taliban, but the majority of police officers don't help them. Every day we lose five to 10 police officers in the fight against the Taliban.

What is Afghanistan's foremost success post-2001?
Democracy. We have a constitution and free elections. Twenty-six percent of our MP's are women. We have the freest press in the region.

Results of the Afghan War

Despite ongoing violence and corruption, the war has brought positive results to regular Afghans.

- Roads: Afghanistan now has more than 6,000 miles of paved roads.
- Utilities: Kabul for the first time has 24-hour electricity.
- Health care: More than 80 percent of Afghans now have access to basic health care.
- Communications: More than 12 million Afghans own their own mobile phones from one of the five Afghan mobile operators. In 2001, there were only 10,000 fixed line telephones and no mobile phones.
- Travel: In addition to the state-owned Ariana Airlines, Afghanistan today has two private airlines.

150

There are now close to 50 private TV stations across Afghanistan, more than 100 community FM radio stations and hundreds of print publications. Official government permission is not required to start a newspaper or magazine.

100

There are now more than 100 public and private universities in Afghanistan, compared to fewer than 10 in 2001. There are more than 200,000 students, both men and women.

8M

Today more than 8 million Afghan children attend school, about 40 percent girls. In 2001, no girls and fewer than 1 million boys went to school.

▶ Under the Taliban girls were banned from school.

SWEDISH AFGHANISTAN COMMITTEE, RAFAELA PERSSON

Ten years of war, what next?

KABUL. To date, the wars in Afghanistan and Iraq have resulted in 236,000 deaths and a cost of $3 trillion to $4 trillion, according to Brown University's Costs of War project. 2010 was the bloodiest year for the military since the Afghan war began.

Forty-eight countries, from Tonga to Norway, participate in the International Security Assistance Force.

With withdrawal of combat forces from Iraq completed, the international alliance has begun withdrawing soldiers from Afghanistan. This summer the first province — Bamiyan — was handed over to the Afghan National Army.

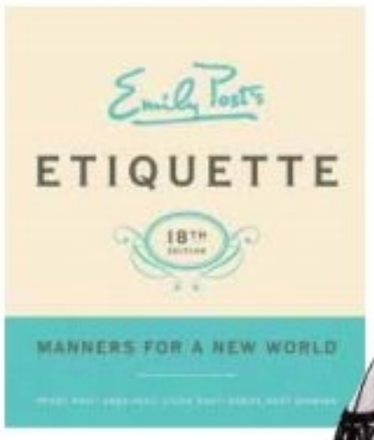
But we do, thanks to a quick chat with etiquette expert extraordinaire Lizzie Post, co-author of the new book "Emily Post's Etiquette: 18th Edition." And although "etiquette" and "Kardashian" go as well together as "Larry King" and "sex tape," Post does have some good points.



"That's her ring to keep," Post advises. "It's legally hers and it's up to her on what she decides to do with it. She did have a marriage. Just because it didn't last very long doesn't mean she didn't follow through with her engagement."

As for the news Kardashian is donating her millions of dollars worth of wedding gifts to charity, Post says that is wrong, wrong, wrong. "It's totally inappropriate!" she laughs. "I know her heart is in the right place but the truth of the matter is, the intention behind a wedding gift isn't to be donated — especially if she goes and gets the charity tax write-off for it — they are to be used for their life together. The appropriate thing is to return them to the person who gave it. And she should include a handwritten note."

Post's last piece of advice is that everyone (even big-headed gossip columnists) should be respectful. "Everyone should be very open-minded and respectful now," says Post. "I don't care who you are — having a marriage dissolve after that short of time is very painful."

Jenner has a lot to talk about.

Lohan to go to jail

I feel like I've been writing about Lindsay Lohan for a thousand Kardashian marriages long (and, honestly, I probably have). The latest? The former starlet is going to jail for 30 days. After admitting to violating her probation for some DUI case or another, she will now have to report to jail by Nov. 9. After her release, she also must continue to do community service at the Los Angeles morgue and attend psychotherapy sessions, a judge announced at the hearing, per People magazine.

Talking points

Simpson gabs about weight, wedding

▶ Simpson

In an interview conducted before she announced her pregnancy, Jessica Simpson gushed to Lucky magazine about how happy she was to have put on weight. "I got so much scrutiny for putting on extra pounds, but I think that the decision not to make myself anorexic was actually great for branding," the singer and designer says. "All kinds of women started coming up to me and saying what an example I was setting by not constantly dieting." Simpson also says any speculation about her wedding is premature. "I haven't started shopping for our wedding yet," she admits. "When I got engaged, everyone thought I would get married immediately, but I have not put a single dress on."

Hugh Grant is now a dad

▶ Grant

Hugh Grant has become a father for the first time, with a baby girl born to an unidentified ex-girlfriend last month, according to Us Weekly. "He's going to be a great dad," a source says. "He's beaming about his daughter. He's not with the mum anymore but he's absolutely thrilled." Grant was last linked to Chinese actress Tinglan Hong, and rumors that she was pregnant began surfacing in April.

Papa Bieber?

A California woman claims that Justin Bieber is the father of her 4-month-old child and wants the 17-year-old pop star to take a paternity test, according to TMZ. "He told me he wanted to make love to me and this was going to be his first time," the woman, 20-year-old Mariah Yeater, says in a sworn affidavit, explaining that they met backstage after an L.A. concert in October 2010, where Bieber allegedly invited her to join him in private — in a bathroom. "We went inside and immediately his personality changed drastically," Yeater says. "At the time I asked him to put on a condom for protection, but he insisted that he did not want to. In his own words, he said that because it was his first time he wanted to feel everything." Bieber's camp is denying the allegations, of course: "While we haven't yet seen the lawsuit, it's sad that someone would fabricate malicious, defamatory, and demonstrably false claims," the singer's reps say in response. "We will vigorously pursue all available legal remedies to defend and protect Justin against these allegations."

Our Aim is to Beat Most Offers!

We Strive to Beat All Legitimate Written Offers

Before Bringing your items to us, take them to other dealers. Have them give you legitimate offers in writing. Then bring your jewelry and written offers to one of our locations. Although no one can guarantee with certainty they are paying the highest price for an article at any particular time, we will strive to beat most legitimate written offers.

Why We Can Usually Pay More Than Other Dealers

Most jewelers and dealers specialize in few items and focus on newer looking items to resell. Because they are unfamiliar with many other items including vintage jewelry, old watches, coins, flatware, etc. they tend to offer very low prices because these items are not readily saleable for them. Our company has many specialized buyers for the various classifications of items that we purchase, therefore we can usually pay more.

A Note Regarding the Up To Prices listed in this Ad

The condition and rarity of an item determines its price. If an item is in excellent condition and very rare it might be worth the up to price, or even more. However, if an item is in poor condition, the value will be lower. For example, a 1927 S Quarter could be worth $7,000 in new condition or less than $20 in poor condition. The up to price reflects items of exceptional quality and rarity. Although it is unlikely you will have these items due to their extreme rarity, feel free to bring whatever items you may have and we will evaluate them free of charge.

Customer Satisfaction

Most of our business comes from satisfied customers and referrals which includes their friends and families. Our showrooms are safe and private. Our staff is courteous and professional and we strive as a company to make your selling experience a pleasant one.

A few high profile ladies and one Jason Mraz

1: Janet Jackson performed at the Gold Coast Convention and Exhibition Centre in Gold Coast, Australia, yesterday. Nice belt buckle there, Janet!

2: After a high-profile marriage that ended in an equally high-profile divorce, Kim Kardashian, looking grim and solemn, arrived at Sydney International Airport yesterday to promote the "Kardashian Kollection" in Australia.

3: Just a regular crazy person or international superstar Susan Boyle in New York City yesterday? You decide!

4: Jason Mraz charmed the audience during his concert at Taipei International Convention Center on in Taipei, Taiwan, on Tuesday.

5: Having recovered from an injury when she fell down in June, Jessie J was back on the stage looking stripey at the HMV Hammersmith in London on Tuesday.

6: Yoko Ono, wife of the late John Lennon, attended the launch of the "Imagine There's No Hunger" campaign at the Hard Rock Cafe Times Square in New York City on Tuesday.

We got relief from our uterine fibroids with UFE – Uterine Fibroid Embolization.

Heavy Periods? Pelvic Pain?
Frequent Urination? Constipation/Bloating?

You might have uterine fibroids
Uterine fibroids are non-cancerous tumors that grow on or in the muscles of the uterus (womb). At least 35 percent of women in the U.S. have fibroids. African American women are more likely to develop fibroids.

Uterine Fibroid Embolization (UFE) is a safe non-surgical alternative to hysterectomy.

▶ Building manager Josh Kovacs (Ben Stiller) gets thievery tips from neighbor and hardened felon, Slide (Eddie Murphy).

5 Reasons to go to the movies this weekend

1 "Tower Heist" The East Coast answer to "Ocean's 11" stars Ben Stiller as an apartment building manager who assembles a group of fellow disgruntled employees to steal back the pension money that building owner (Alan Alda) squandered in a Madoff-esque scam.

2 "A Very Harold & Kumar 3D Christmas" Our favorite modern-day Cheech and Chong are back six years after crashing Guantanamo Bay for a very stoney Christmas adventure. Prepare to dodge eggs, hats, fingers and traffic cones in what is probably the only comedy to make the most of its 3-D effects.

3 "In Time" In the future, no one ages beyond 25 after the aging gene is switched off, but time on Earth is bartered like money. Can sexy co-stars Justin Timberlake and Amanda Seyfried knock this one out of the park? We're hoping so.

4 "Puss in Boots" How not surprising is it that after beating the "Shrek" franchise into the ground, there's now a prequel about one of his sidekicks? We live in a world where cartoons are getting prequels, folks. Anything can happen next.

5 "The Rum Diary" Johnny Depp once again assumes the mantle of Hunter S. Thompson in this adaptation of the writer's novel about a journalist working at a San Juan newspaper in the 1950s.

Blowouts that look great for days

We caught up with Alli Webb, co-founder of the popular blow dry-only chain Drybar, for some product tips. At the fixed affordable price of $40 for a blowout — regardless of hair length, thickness or if a stylist uses a flat iron, curling iron or takes two hours on the look — here's hoping they open a location in Philly soon. You hear us Webb?

"This is for that woman, who, like me, is going on the fifth day of her blowout and her hair is starting to look oily. But if you just got the oil out [of the roots] it would still look great."

2 Moroccanoil Hydrating Styling Cream, $31, www.moroccanoil.com
"It's kind of my go-to. I put it on almost everybody. Most people have dry ends, and this isn't heavy and it doesn't weigh your hair down."

AOL posts third quarter loss, teases new social tool

Despite an 8 percent increase in global advertising sales, AOL's revenue was down 6 percent for the third quarter compared to last year. In a followup earnings call, AOL CEO Tim Armstrong alluded to a new social networking tool the company plans to unveil in the coming weeks, although he didn't release any details.

Total revenue amounted to $532 million, down from $564 in the third quarter of 2010. Net losses were $2.6 million, compared to a profit of $171.6 million a year ago.

The 8 percent increase in ad revenue — the company's second consecutive quarterly gain since 2008 — was driven by a 28 percent increase in ads sold through third-party networks like www.advertising.com. Display revenue from ads run on AOL's portfolio of Web properties was up 15 percent from the year previous.

▶ South Street's Downey's, after its "Bar Rescue" makeover.

RIKARD LARMA/METRO

Raising the bar's bar

It's not easy to make it in the restaurant business 'Bar Rescue' consultant Dan Smith wants to help out Philly's watering holes

We do more than our share to support bars, but we can only drink so much. Not only do they fail, but there is an entire show dedicated to fixing their mistakes. Spike TV's "Bar Rescue" swooped down on Philly's Swanky Bubbles and Downey's earlier this year, and then the crew stopped back in town last month to host "Bar Rescue University," a workshop for bar owners on how to track lost, stolen and wasted (for shame!) alcohol.

Lost vodka is lost joy, so we caught up with show consultant Dan Smith.

How can owners control losses from free drinks and overpours?
You want them to be able to give free drinks to guests that are spending a lot of money. A bar can control this by giving the bartenders a "comp budget." They get to ring up a percentage of comp drinks every night for these types of guests. As long as they control their comps, a business' costs should be efficient — of course, if you have developed your drink menu correctly.

How important are promos such as happy hours?
Philly is a big happy hour city, so it would be tough to compete without a strong happy hour. If people pass by and see a full restaurant at happy hour, that excitement is more likely to draw a customer in.

Philly is known for great bar food. How can a new bar stand out?
The entire gourmet burger movement was generated out of making an American classic even better. These are challenging economic times and guests are looking for great food with great flavors, made from healthy ingredients at a good value. Do what you do best — only better.

Shelf life

Tuaca chills out

What we're drinking
Tuaca, a vanilla-citrus liqueur that's now on shelves in a high-tech new bottle designed by tattoo artist Corey Miller. His design is printed in "thermochromatic" ink — a fancy word that just means it changes color with the temperature. Avoid trying to namecheck this too late into the night.

What it tastes like
Christmas with the cool side of your family. Italian brandies are blended with Madagascar vanilla and Mediterranean citrus fruits for a warm, smooth sip.

Drink it like this
Straight up and chilled (aka when the bottle turns blue).

Mix it with
Tuaca's pretty versatile, and is right at home in fruity cocktails where you might usually add vodka (think pineapple and cranberry juice bases), lending a little hint of autumn. Or, go all out and use it to spike warm apple cider for a seriously cuddly cocktail.

METRO/MW

Drink this

The Tuaca Ginger-Lime

What's in it:
- 1.5 oz. chilled Tuaca
- 2 oz. ginger ale
- 2 lime wedges

How to make it:
Pour Tuaca in a lowball glass over ice. Fill with ginger ale. Squeeze lime in, and mix.

Restaurant news & notes

Bobby Flay's new Palace

Bobby Flay stopped by the Cherry Hill Mall on Tuesday to open a new Bobby's Burger Palace, making that two outposts for the chef/Food Network mainstay in the area (his University City location opened to oh-no-you-didn't lines last year). The casual menu is almost strictly burgers (topped with chips), fries and milkshakes, rounded out by the likes of beer-battered onion rings for a balanced menu. One notable infiltration: The Philly Burger, which is topped with Provolone, grilled onions and hot peppers. (2000 Route 38, Cherry Hill, www.bobbysburgerpalace.com).

Percy Street Barbecue, Round 2

Chef Erin O'Shea is setting up shop in the Comcast Center with a second location of Percy Street Barbecue. Opening Monday, the new location will be lunch-friendly with a menu centered around Texas-style smoked meat sandwiches, including both sliced and chopped brisket, boneless ribs and smoked ham. As for the sides, they're a sweet deal at $3 a pop — and yes, her mac 'n' cheese came along for the ride. (17th Street and JFK Boulevard, www.percystreet.com)

Ms. Tootsie's makeover

South Street soul queen Ms. Tootsie's will debut a plush new look this month with plenty of lounge spaces and some new menu items. Pay a visit Nov. 16 for additions such as bourbon-braised short ribs, spring rolls stuffed with chicken, yams and cabbage and pulled pork sliders. Next door, restaurateur Keven Parker opens KDP Lifestyle and Luxury Suites, a new home goods boutique and posh post-Tootsie's sleepover option. (1310 South St., www.kevenparker.net)

The Franklin's fall menu

It's all about autumn at the Franklin Mortgage and Investment Co., where applejack mingles with pumpkin syrup in the new House of Leaves cocktail. Stop by Monday through Friday (5-8 p.m.) for their "Extra Credit" program, where drinks such as the Philadelphia (pictured at left, with enough juice to land it on their "I Asked Her For Water, She Brought Me Gasoline" menu) are $9. (112. S. 18th St., www.thefranklinbar.com)

'Show Me'

by Jessica Sutta

When Gaga first came on the scene, she was criticized for being derivative. It seems that with Jessica Sutta's "Show Me," we have our first real example of a song that is derivative of pop's leading Lady. This is not to say that "Show Me" is a bad song. The melody is strong, and the thumping beat has helped it hover at the top of the Billboard dance chart for a few weeks. Sutta, a former Pussycat Doll, will find her own identity one day. There is a unique squeak she should use more. METRO

A gal walks into a bar ...

This week, a Dum Dum Girl walks into a bar

We ask showbiz personalities what they look for in nightlife experiences. This week, we check in with Dum Dum Girls singer Dee Dee, who when we reached her, was driving around in the van with her band. PAT HEALY

What are you up to?
We're trying to find a place to stop for brunch.

Are you a big brunch?
I love going out for food. I'm not a big eater, but I think I love brunch because I'm not that hungry in the morning. I'm a coffee person, so the timing always makes sense to my stomach.

What do you look for most in restaurants or bars?
Sushi is probably my ideal dinner date. I'm half uptown, half downtown. I really like cocktails. I like good cocktail bars, but then I generally end up at some skeevy dive bar.

What's your go-to cocktail?
Well, it changes, but generally I'm a fan of things that are whiskey- or gin-based. I like something with ginger or mint, anything that's kind of refreshing.

Writer's rude awakening

RE: "THE 'AMERICAN DREAM' VS. OWS": When people take the time to learn about issues of public concern, it's not begging; it's civic duty. When people are convinced that current policy is misguided and take the time to express their opinion in public, it's not begging; it's part of the work that's necessary for a republic to function.
DAN WYLIE-SEARS, VIA E-MAIL

Clearly, sir, your major isn't American history, or you'd know OWS is not begging anyone for money but protesting the rich's power, as our forefathers did to begin America. It wasn't constitutional law either, or you'd know of OWS's freedoms of speech and assembly. Since your "American dream" is nothing more than money, your double majors must be Stupidi-Tea and Voraci-Tea.
J. ANDREW SMITH, VIA E-MAIL

Let's wait until you graduate — perhaps you will find your dream has actually turned into your worst nightmare, like so many of those OWS, who are questioning this so-called "American dream" and finding it wanting.

Cain may have a lady problem

RE: "CAIN: I'M NOT A PERVERT": Your news item on Herman Cain's history of harassing women is in line with his women's rights policy, which is no abortion under any circumstances. This policy is in effect in some countries, for example Nicaragua, where women with life-threatening conditions such as ectopic pregnancy die. Doctors face jail if they save the women by doing an abortion, so the women just die. That is Mr. Cain's policy as well. Clearly he has some kind of score to settle with adult women and would make one rotten president. PAUL SIMONS, PHILADELPHIA

A new dream for a new day

I am living at an Occupy protest site. I work full time. I go to work from the protest. I find hope in this movement that America and the world can be a better place for myself, my friends and generations to come. The "American dream" has dissolved for most of us, but a new one is growing up from the seeds of hope in this movement. Please take time to understand this movement before you dismiss it. Perhaps you will feel inspired. Hope is a good feeling.

Horoscope

♏ Scorpio Oct. 24-Nov. 22. Nature has endowed you with a healthy dose of drive and determination, both of which are enormous assets. Usually, once you set your mind to something it's a fait accompli; not today.
♐ Sagittarius Nov. 23-Dec. 21. There should be no need to revise your painstakingly laid-out plans. Don't try to second-guess yourself and fail to follow through on your plans.
♑ Capricorn Dec. 22-Jan. 19. During this cycle, you should be exceptionally fortunate because of persons with whom you're involved. However, if someone in the group gets greedy, all bets are off.
♒ Aquarius Jan. 20-Feb. 19. In your mind everything will work out as long as everyone goes along with your way of thinking, but woe to those who oppose you. You may need an attitude adjustment.
♓ Pisces Feb. 20-March 20. You'll be far happier devoting your efforts and energies to tasks that are of a mental or creative nature, so try to stick to those areas. You're not apt to handle physical chores too well.
♈ Aries March 21-April 19. You have a lot going for you, such as sharp thinking, good friends and even some help from Lady Luck, yet you may fail to appreciate this and thus not capitalize on it.
♉ Taurus April 20-May 20. As long as you don't allow your impulses to override good methodology, you can achieve more than your share of objectives. Be practical and patient.
♊ Gemini May 21-June 20. If you're smart, you'll stay away from subjects that are debatable and can't be solved anyway. Your mood is such that you aren't likely to mince words with people who disagree.
♋ Cancer June 21-July 22. Teaming up with another in a common cause can be extremely productive, but only if both you and your teammate put forth an equal amount of effort.
♌ Leo July 23-Aug. 22. Someone with whom you're involved might need a bit of a push from you to get him or her started. If you can't handle this, stay away from any joint endeavor.
♍ Virgo Aug. 23-Sept. 22. You're likely to be extremely productive and industrious, which is all well and good. However, if you get too far ahead of teammates, you could disrupt the assembly line.
♎ Libra Sept. 23-Oct. 23. You'll be happier sticking to those whom you know like and admire you, and staying clear of people who think they are better than everybody else.

Union confident in face of elimination

Club looks to bounce back after playoff-opening loss ◗ Two-goal victory punches ticket to Eastern Conference finals ◗ Team captain says it's a matter of being 'relaxed' and 'focused'

It has been a long and winding road for the Philadelphia Union.

The club hopes that road to the MLS Cup title continues with a trip to the Eastern Conference finals. To make that happen, they'll have to beat the Houston Dynamo by at least two goals to win the two-game aggregate goal series. If the Union win by one goal, they'll at least force a pair of 15-minute overtimes and possibly penalty kicks.

The regular season began all the way back on March 19 with a 1-0 win at Houston. Ironically, the Union find themselves back at Houston's Robertson Stadium for a huge match tonight at 8:30.

On TV today

Union at Houston, 8:30 p.m. (ESPN2)

"I think we have been working for 10 months during the whole season to be at the place we are now," Union goalkeeper and captain Faryd Mondragon said. "And we want to continue this way until in L.A. [for the MLS Cup]. We know what we didn't do [in the first game] and what needs to be done Thursday. I think it's just a matter of being relaxed and focused."

While the Union are facing elimination, they're still confident about extending their season. Much of that has to do with the makeup of the club.

"I think this is one of the two or three best locker rooms I've been in my whole career," Mondragon said. "If we play the way I know we can play, we can beat anyone. And I say this in a very humble way because I know there are a lot very good teams. But I live with this team every day, day by day, training by training, minute by minute, and I know what we are capable of."

Movers and shakers: Breaking down the Philadelphia Phillies

With free agency kicking off today, we take a look at the Phillies' state of affairs:

Starting lineup

▶ Jimmy Rollins: Will J-Roll return? The guess here is yes since the Phillies don't have a replacement. They know what they get with Rollins, who probably prefers to stay home — if he gets a decent deal, with five years on it.

▶ Chase Utley: Phils get two more years of the former All-Star. But can Utley's bum knee withstand the rigors of second base anymore?

▶ Hunter Pence: Under Phillies control through the 2013 season. Pence is the lone member of the starting eight still under 30.

▶ Ryan Howard: Will the 'Big Piece' return on Opening Day, after surgery for his ruptured left Achilles tendon? And will he listen to management and finally be more patient at the plate?

▶ Shane Victorino: The team catalyst was arguably the Phillies' MVP.

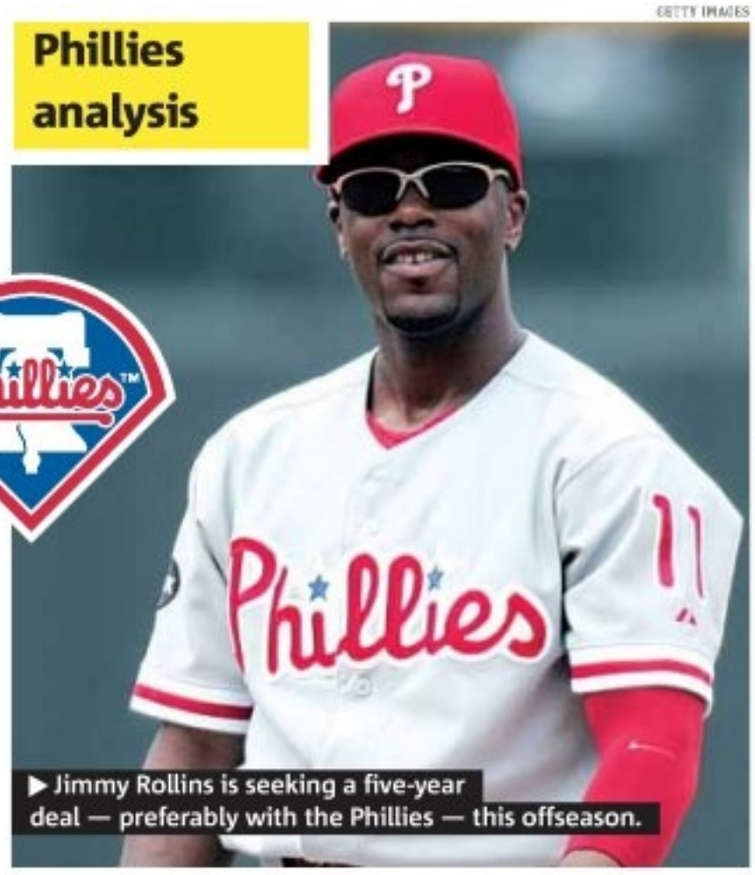
▶ Placido Polanco: Phillies are on the hook for one more year at $6.25 million. It wouldn't hurt to move Polly to the bench in favor of a younger, more traditional third baseman with some power. Is a trade for David Wright out of the question?

▶ Carlos Ruiz: The Phillies still have the solid Chooch, but it's time to start grooming a replacement.

Phillies analysis

GETTY IMAGES



▶ Jimmy Rollins is seeking a five-year deal — preferably with the Phillies — this offseason.

Keep an eye on ...

▶ John Mayberry Jr.: The one guy off the bench with some pop moves into left or replaces Howard at first. Could he become the next Jayson Werth?

▶ Domonic Brown: Former top prospect in baseball will once again have a chance to win an outfield job when team reports to Clearwater.

Midseason MVPs

Can the two biggest surprises at their respective positions keep it up?

1 Cam Newton, QB, CAR — Newton's jaw-dropping rookie season is not a fluke. He's incredibly accurate on deep balls and running is a secondary luxury. He will not slow down.

2 Fred Jackson, RB, BUF — F-Jax won't be a top-3 back as the Bills' offense slows down in the cold weather. But he'll end up as a top-8 guy with ease.

NFL news

No DMC?

Darren McFadden had the bye week to get his foot healthy. It didn't happen. McFadden missed practice Wednesday, making it likely that Michael Bush will be the workhorse Sunday. Bush can instantly be plugged in as a top-12 running back play.

LET'S START THIS OVER

Stop living in the past, man. We don't get any points for what our players did in the first half of the season — all that matters now is what they will do over the next eight weeks.

With that in mind, it's important to take a step back and rethink player values at the midway point. If we could draft again, just for Weeks 9-16, who would we take? Glad you asked:

Running backs rule

There aren't too many healthy running backs left that are playing at an elite level and being used on three downs. The ones that are should be the first few picks.

Arian Foster is the focal point of an offense with the best run-blocking line in the league. He's the No. 1 pick. Then comes Adrian Peterson, whose stock is on the rise thanks to Christian Ponder. LeSean McCoy and Ray Rice are next as the best pass-catching backs in the league. All four are also the goal-line backs for their respective teams.

Unstoppable

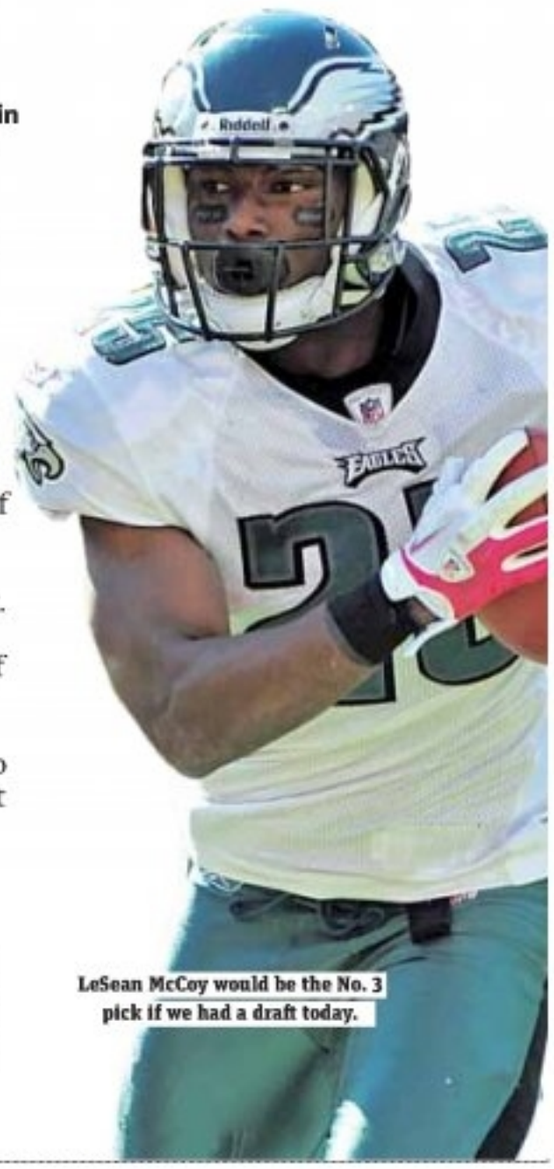
Conventional wisdom suggests Calvin Johnson will regress to the mean in the second half. However, that wisdom doesn't take into account that Johnson is a "once in a generation" kind of player. He's the No. 5 pick.

Quarterbacks don't yield much value compared to other positions, but Aaron Rodgers is a freak. There's no risk in him at No. 6. After that, we take an injury risk in the form of Darren McFadden. If he can get healthy, he's a threat to lead the league in scoring in any given week.

Perhaps the two biggest surprises of the season have been Fred Jackson and Matt Forte. They won't fall on their face, but aren't elite enough to sustain the current pace. Picks eight and nine for them make sense.

Vick is not a trick

Forget about Michael Vick's substandard first half. It's a fluke he hasn't run for a touchdown, and his offensive line is finally giving him some time. The upside here is still limitless with the No. 10 pick.



LeSean McCoy would be the No. 3 pick if we had a draft today.

Top NFL pickups

Brent Celek

- TE, Eagles The Birds have realized that their outside speed leaves the middle of the field wide open. With the offensive line shaping up, Celek is no longer needed as a blocker.

Jonathan Baldwin

- WR, Chiefs The impressive rookie is playing in all three-wide sets and at least half of the two-wide sets. Matt Cassel is willing to throw him jump balls deep down the field.

Javon Ringer

- RB, Titans Yes, it's gotten this bad for Chris Johnson. The Titans are planning on going with a "hot hand" at running back. And right now, Ringer is more likely to get hot.

If you are suffering from "Jock Itch" you may qualify to participate in a research study evaluating an investigational new drug.

Jock itch can be painful , irritating and embarrassing. Learn about a new research study for this problem.

- Tinea cruris, also known as "jock itch" is one of the most common fungal infections.
- It is a chronic skin disease of the groin and inner thighs and may return frequently.
- It appears as itching, cracking, scaling and redness.
- This fungus is spread by contact with infected skin scales in moist environments such as tight clothing.
- This study will compare a placebo to a new investigational cream.

Entry Criteria:
Evidence of "Jock Itch"
Males of females 12 years of age or older

Must be in good general health
Participants will be reimbursed for their time and travel.
